Explanatory notes

This competence describes the ability that educators are able to develop and select clear and appropriate teaching objectives for their media-supported lessons. This may include adapting teaching objectives from the educational curricula or other sources.

Rationale

Educators must be able to select or develop appropriate teaching objectives that fit their specific media-supported teaching situation.

Example

An educator could select and adapt teaching objectives from their state's curriculum to ensure they fit the needs of their students and their media-based instruction.
