Explanatory notes

This competence describes the ability to meet the different needs and requirements of students. Socioeconomic factors such as access to digital media at home can have a significant impact on learning opportunities.

Rationale

By taking pedagogues into account socio-economic factors, it can be ensured that all students get equal opportunities to benefit from teaching. This contributes to equal opportunities in education.

Example

A teacher asks his students before he plans an online teaching unit whether all students have access to the internet from home.
