Services

One of the main tasks of the ZenDi is the provision of online services and systems for university teaching at the PH Weingarten.

These ZenDi offers are defined and organized as services. We understand this as the application of technical and didactical expertise to support and develop the digital elements of teaching at the PH in a structured way and to develop them further. Part of the services is also the user support for the digital systems and platforms provided by the ZenDi.

In this wiki category Services you will find information about the service portfolio of the ZenDi.

One of the services of ZenDi on this wiki is a collection of references and links to further support possibilities for digital teaching and learning at PH Weingarten offered by other departments and institutions. Without guarantee for completeness and topicality. This service was originally initiated and supported by TEgoDi.
